information. These sales promotional materials are often directly used for that online sales promotion by the cyberstore. 4thly, a cyberstore may desire differentiation of itself from each other by changing a part of permitted service condition, and producing offering from which digital content differs. 5thly, the cyberstore may need to change whether the address of URL etc. is inserted into metadata into the required. Nothing which pays and passes through a cyberstore for liquidation, in order to turn payment adjustment to an accounts adjustment firm automatically by a purchaser...

...digital content was restricted from this license can be given. Since the period and conditions of permission which are given are reflected, the license is required. In order to process the metadata related to digital content in view of all these necessary conditions, many cyberstores produce the software program customized in order to process these necessary conditions. Time required in order to produce these customized software programs, cost, and a test may become large. Therefore, the need of providing the solution with respect to...all compression, and it is called lossy compression. The content provider has to use which compression algorithm and has to determine which compression level is required. For example, by a music, digital content or music may have a characteristic which is very different according to a musical genre. A compression algorithm...

...processing and processing settings are performed. You have to make it the genre of the music encoded have to induce a desired result frequent. The requirements that encoding parameters, such as an equalisation level setting and a dynamic range setting, must be manually set for every digital content may become a...

...an encoding manually exists. In the case of large content items, such as a movie without abbreviation/omission, especially the processing that compresses content may require a lot of exclusive calculation resources. The provider of a compression algorithm provides the various trade offs and the strong points relevant to the compression technique. The performance quality of the quantity of time and a calculation resource required in order to compress content, the quantity of the compression achieved from original content, the bit rate that a reproduction/regeneration is expected, and the compressed content, and other factors is contained in this trade off. Use of the encoding program which produces/generates the output file which...
...program without the intermediate/middle display of advancing, or managing this. By this, the method of showing the quantity of the content encoded as a ratio of the whole selection thing which had the encoding designated of the application by the side of calling is lost/eliminated. This may become a...

... previous year we have four or five days more. The reason and the content is one, TV, in the second quarter the sales unit we expected were not reached, so we are behind the schedule and this happened in the later half of the second quarter. That is why the days are higher for TVs. And the same tendency for digital cameras, our sales forecast -- that actually our sales were less than our sales forecast. And strategically we over-bought panels with hindsight. Because of the shortage
